

Mr. Murphy returned to the United States following the end of World War II and the family moved back to San Francisco. Hardships persisted for the family as Mrs. Murphy, seven months pregnant with their second child, contracted polio. Fortunately, Mrs. Murphy survived the disease without side effects and gave birth to their son, Dennis Raymond, without complication. The family went on to welcome their third child, Teresa Anne "Terry," in 1953. After raising their children in Sherman Oaks, in 2000, the couple settled in Roseville, California.

Throughout her life, Mrs. Murphy devoted herself to caring for her family and community. She was a devoted and hardworking mother as well as an invaluable volunteer and leader at school and church events. She donated her time to several charitable organizations including serving as President of Marymount Mother's Club and of Saint Anne's Foundation for Unwed Mothers.

Mrs. Murphy also enjoyed an active lifestyle, including golf, Tai Chi, and walking her beloved dogs. Mr. & Mrs. Murphy were avid travelers, visiting four continents and traversing the United States. Later in life, they took several extended motorhome vacations exploring the colors of the Northeast and the wilderness of Alaska.

Mrs. Murphy is preceded in death by her loving husband of 71 years, Jack. She is survived by three children, six grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren, and countless friends. We will dearly miss Mrs. Murphy's kind spirit, but her laugh and warm smile will live on in our memories. I would like to extend my deepest sympathies to Mrs. Murphy's loved ones. I know they join in me celebrating her life and the countless ways she changed our lives for the better.

CONGRATULATING LAWRENCE HIGGINBOTTOM BEING NAMED ANIMAL CONTROL OFFICER OF THE YEAR

HON. STEVE COHEN

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 3, 2022

Mr. COHEN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Lawrence Higginbottom of Memphis Animal Services, who has been named Animal Control Officer of the Year by the National Animal Care and Control Association. Part of his job—a part he has a reputation for handling well—is reuniting animals with their owners, a priority with progressive animal shelters like Memphis Animal Services that operate on a "community-centered" model. The shelter recently received a $50,000 grant from an animal welfare group to hire a pet-reunification specialist. According to a story in The Daily Memphian, Mr. Higginbottom recently picked up a dog in Memphis that had been on the loose for five years. Because the dog had received an under-skin microchip, Mr. Higginbottom quickly found the owners by phone—650 miles away in Austin, Texas. The family arrived to pick up Cheerio the next day. Because most dogs are lost less than half a mile from their owners' homes, Mr. Higginbottom often finds himself knocking on nearby neighbors' doors with the lost pet on a leash. When the shelter held a dog-owner reunification competition among animal control officers this past summer, Mr. Higginbottom won it. As a proud and longtime member of the Congressional Animal Protection Caucus, it is inspiring to know that Memphis has such a caring and thoughtful animal control officer. I congratulate Mr. Higginbottom for this well-deserved national recognition.

RECOGNIZING THE 100TH GREATER ST. LOUIS HONOR FLIGHT

HON. BLAINE LUETKEMEYER

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 3, 2022

Mr. LUETKEMEYER. Madam Speaker, I rise to congratulate the Greater St. Louis Honor Flight on their 100th flight and thank them for honoring our veterans in such a meaningful way. Organizations like the Honor Flight Network let Missouri veterans know how truly grateful we are for service and sacrifice in the name of freedom.

The Honor Flight Network has been flying veterans from the Greater St. Louis Area to Washington DC since 2008, allowing those who protected our great country to see the grand memorials erected in their honor. On November 1st the Greater St. Louis Honor Flight completed its 100th flight. It is now one of only two chapters in the country to reach that milestone. Missouri's 3rd District is the proud home of thousands of veterans. While we can never thank our heroes enough for what they've done for each and every one of us, programs like the Honor Flight do a great job of reminding them how much we value their service and of our dedication to honoring them now and far into the future.

Madam Speaker, please join me in congratulating the Greater St. Louis Honor Flight on their 100th flight.

IN RECOGNITION OF CHIEF FRANK FREDERICKSON

HON. WILLIAM R. KEATING

OF MASSACHUSETTS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 3, 2022

Mr. KEATING. Madam Speaker, I rise today in recognition of Chief Frank Frederickson as he retires from the Yarmouth Police Department after 45 years of dedicated service.

Chief Frederickson first began his extensive career with the Yarmouth Police Department in 1977 as a summer officer and was brought on full-time as a patrol officer in 1979. Over the years, Chief Frederickson rose through the ranks, being promoted to detective, patrol sergeant, detective sergeant, lieutenant, deputy chief of police, and finally chief of police in 2010.

During his time with the Yarmouth Police Department, Chief Frederickson continuously worked to make sure that residents felt safe in their community and strove to foster a strong relationship between the people of Yarmouth and their police department. Through an active outreach program, the use of social media, and programs like Coffee with the Chief—a monthly event that allows the community to come together to connect with the Chief and the Yarmouth Police Department to ask questions and hear more about the police department's work—Chief Frederickson aimed to ensure that the community felt informed and that their voices were heard. These efforts did not go unnoticed; the Yarmouth Police Department was the recipient of the New England Association of Chiefs of Police Community Policing Award several times under Chief Frederickson's leadership.

Holding an associate's, bachelor's, and master's degree in criminal justice from Cape Cod Community College, Northeastern University, and Anna Maria College, respectively, Chief Frederickson has been a leader in public safety and criminal justice not only in his own community, but also across the Commonwealth and throughout the New England region. During his 12 years as chief, Frederickson sat on the Executive Board of the New England Association of Chiefs of Police and served as president of the Cape and Islands Police Chiefs Association and the Southeastern Massachusetts Police Chiefs Association.

After 45 years of service, Chief Frederickson retires from the Yarmouth Police Department on October 31st. Chief Frederickson has dedicated his career to serving the people of Yarmouth, and I wish him many years of well-deserved happiness in retirement with his children and wife, Michelle.

Madam Speaker, I am proud to honor Chief Frank Frederickson. I ask that my colleagues join me in recognizing his career and commitment to serving his community.

Mr. SWALWELL. Madam Speaker, I rise today, along with Congressman MARK DESAULNIER, to recognize Daniel "Dan" Franklin—a distinguished World War II veteran, and a loving father, grandfather, and great grandfather—who has just celebrated his 95th birthday.
